

Carbonyls, compounds with  $C=O$ , also absorb light in the UV region. For ex, acetone has broad absorption peak @ 280 nm. In this example, the electron can be excited from an unshared pair into a antibonding  $\pi^$ -orbital ( $n \rightarrow \pi^$ )